GATLINBURG TRAIL

Our walk is an out-and-back making use of the Gatlinburg Trail, one of the easiest trails in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Through much of the walk, the trail runs between the West Prong of the Little Pigeon River and Newfound Gap Road. Keep your eyes open during this walk for signs of those families who once lived in what became the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. Unfortunately, there is limited information available on who lived in these cabins and houses. In addition to those families who lived and worked in these mountains, several wealthy Knoxvilleians kept summer homes at various places in the Smokys. Also watch for the "trail marker tree" with its horizontal bend several feet off the ground pointing along the direction of the trail. This "trail marker tree" is thought to be a notable example of one of these signposts of the Cherokee. It will be on your left as you walk toward Gatlinburg. Although the forest is recovering, you can still see signs of the massive forest fire that threatened to engulf Gatlinburg and the Smoky Mountains National Park in 2016.

STARTING POINT

You are starting your walk at the Sugarlands Visitor Center in the Great Smoky Mountains National Park (1420 Fighting Creek Gap Road, Gatlinburg, TN 37738).

GENERAL WALK INFORMATION

This walk uses one of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park trails and a short distance on sidewalks in Gatlinburg. While the trail is relatively easy, please be careful as it is easy to trip over a rock or root on the trail. The portion of the walk on the actual park service trail (Gatlinburg Trail) is one of only two trails that one can take a dog. However, this walk also uses two trails where dogs are not permitted.

Bathrooms are available at the Sugarlands Visitor Center and at the Nantahala Outdoor Center.
