This is an easy early season day hike starting from two possible locations off of SR14 on the Washington side of the Columbia River just west of the Cascade Locks Bridge of the Gods. You will hike through forests and harvested clearings among rocky hummocks and ponds made centuries ago by the Bonneville land slide. You'll enjoy views of the Columbia River, Bonneville Dam and Table Mountain. Total elevation gain is 648 feet.

There are two places to park:

1. Just to the west of the Cascade Locks Bridge is a small parking turnout and a large sign marking the Pacific Crest Trail. You can begin here to be on the PCT the entire way. This point adds 2.3K to the total distance. There are no toilets at this location or on this route. If you need one, see 2 below. GPS Coordinates: 45.66095 -121.90632.
2. Or, continue on SR14 west 1.5 miles to the Bonneville Trailhead on your right. Pit toilet located at the far end of the parking lot. NW Forest Pass or equivalent required to park here. GPS Coordinates: 45.65048 -121.93300

Bring a lunch to eat at the lake. There is no drinkable water on either route. Carry water. Sunscreen, a hat and bug repellent are good ideas.

There are no toilets on these routes, except for the pit toilet at the Bonneville Trailhead (#2 above)

Cell coverage disappears as you leave SR14, so no emergency 911 phone.

Driving directions: From Portland: I-84 east 40 miles to exit 40 (Cascade Locks.) Pay the toll and cross the Bridge of the Gods to the Washington side. Turn Left onto SR14.

1. Immediately look for a small parking turnoff to the right with a big PCT sign. GPS: 45.66095 - 121.90632 OR
2. Continue west 1.5 miles on SR14 to the well-developed Bonneville Trailhead parking lot on the right side. NW Forest Pass or equivalent required to park here. Pit toilet located here, the only “facility” on the route. GPS: 45.65048 -121.93300

From Vancouver: Drive east 35 miles on SR14. After you go through the town of North Bonneville, look for the Bonneville Dam Visitors Center on your right. On the left is the Bonneville Trailhead parking lot (#2 above.) Or, continue 1.5 miles to just before the Bridge of the Gods. The PCT turnout is on the left with the big PCT sign (#1 above.)

Bring water. There is no drinkable water on these routes. Visit the Bonneville Dam Visitors Center and fish ladders if you have time if they are open.

From the PCT turnout (#1):

1. Straight left on the PCT, an old, overgrown power line road parallel to SR14.
2. Continue in a little less than a mile working your way up switchbacks to join the Tamanous Trail coming from the left onto the PCT.

Go to # 7.

From the Bonneville Trailhead (#2):

3. Walk to the east end of the parking lot to the “Tamanous Trail #27”.
4. Follow this trail as it winds up the hill. In 1/3K there’s a good Columbia River view.
5. Continue as the trail turns left to a small ridge, where a clear-cut gives views to the NW.
6. Turn Left at the “T” onto the PCT. (.4k)

7. View several ponds downslope as you travel this section of the trail.
8. Continue through a mixture of clear-cuts and forests. Stay on the main trail as there is a mixture of public and private lands.
9. Continue through a thick, shady forest. (2k)
10. Climb slightly to a utility road.
11. Cross the road to continue downhill on the trail to Gillette Lake.
12. Left on the spur trail just before you reach the lake’s seasonal inlet to a nice spot for lunch. Or continue up the inlet if the lake is crowded.
13. Reverse your steps to return to your car.

These walk directions and maps may only be used in conjunction with a signed American Volkssport Association athletic waiver. All other uses are prohibited.

Emergency cell service 911 may not be available, except near SR14.
