Little Bennett Regional Park Y2504

YRE Description

Little Bennett Regional Park is the largest natural gem of Montgomery County. It lies just a few miles from Interstate 270. Spread over 3,700 acres, the park offers beautiful scenery, a large campground, a small playground, more than a dozen historic sites and over 25 miles of scenic natural surface trails. Little Bennett Regional Park also features an 18-hole golf course.

While exploring the park's natural surface trails be sure to be on the lookout for the eastern bluebird and timberdoodle as you journey through the forests, meadows and through the wetland area on the Western Piedmont Trail.

In addition to an abundance of native plants and animals, this park features 14 historical sites and points of interest – including the Hyattstown Mill and the one-room Kingsley School House – which preserve the memories of rural life in Montgomery County through the 18th, 19th, and 20th centuries.

The Kingsley School House was built in 1893 in response to the need for a school within walking distance of farms located in the Little Bennett Creek Valley. It served the local, rural farming community until it closed in 1935. Each year, around 20 children ranging in age from 6-12 years old attended the school. Since the immediate area was known locally as Froggy Hollow – due to the large number of frogs that could be heard peeping in the low-lying area – the school acquired the nickname of Froggy Hollow School. The School House is open to the public on the first Sunday of the month from April through October, 1pm - 4pm.

The park is on the Eastern Piedmont which is characterized by relatively low, rolling hills. For the natural surface park trails we suggest sturdy walking shoes and many walkers will want to use walking sticks.
