Historical Information:

The original name of the town was Richmond Courthouse. In 1831 the town's name was changed to Warsaw, after the news of the bloody Battle of Warsaw reached local residents. A number of other small towns in the United States changed their names to Warsaw at this time (Warsaw, Kentucky for instance), all as a result of sympathy in the United States for the November Uprising in Poland. Because Richmond Courthouse was still unincorporated in 1830, it is unclear who was responsible for the change of name to Warsaw.

The Richmond County Museum at 5874 Richmond Road, Warsaw, Va, has exhibits highlighting the Rappahannock Indian Tribe.

FIND THE LOVE - The LOVE sign is being renovated and is expected to be installed in the Town Park before the Fourth of July. Don't have exact date or location within the park.
